Re: Scituate Resilient Waterfront Amenity

Dear James:

Copley Wolff Design Group is pleased to submit our proposal for the Resilient Waterfront Amenity in Scituate. We look forward to the possibility of working with the Town and providing landscape architectural services for the planning and design for the transformation of the site.

Copley Wolff has a long and successful history working on a variety of waterfront, municipal, park, and public realm projects throughout New England. Waterfront design and implementation requires specialized experience and understanding of the natural forces that impact and influence open space. We plan and design built environments that respond to the realities of climate change and sea level rise, integrating green infrastructure features holistically. Our designs are beautiful, creative, and comfortable while also creating for future environmental impacts by protecting our cities and towns from storm surges, heavy rains, tidal events, and sea level rise. Based on collaborative experience with engineers and environmental scientists, Copley Wolff's landscape architects work with each client to develop solutions designed specifically for the unique conditions of every project site.

Copley Wolff has assembled an expert group of subconsultants whose skills and knowledge will aid us in designing a vibrant and resilient outdoor amenity space for the Scituate community. We selected our team members because of their experience, their technical expertise, and our history working together on similar projects throughout the State of Massachusetts. Some of the advantages that our team brings to this project include:

Fluent in Community Process Copley Wolff has an exemplary reputation as a community process leader. Our proposed team deftly communicates, educates, guides, and solicits comments. This process gains consensus which results in high community buy-in and most importantly, ownership and stewardship of the finished project.

Experience Designing Waterfronts in the Public Realm Copley Wolff has vast experience in the design and implementation of waterfront landscapes. This experience has given us an understanding of the unique design challenges and opportunities associated with waterfront design.

Ability to Complete Projects on Time and on Budget Copley Wolff prides itself on its track record of projects being completed on time and at or under budget. We have selected team members who have the experience and time to devote the attention required to achieve a successful design for the Resilient Waterfront Amenity.

We are confident that the Copley Wolff team has the ability to provide you with the best landscape architectural services for the Resilient Waterfront Amenity project. We take pride in our understanding of the public realm and placemaking and would love the chance to work with the Town of Scituate.

Sincerely,

James Heroux, ASLA, PLA
