The current status of the reservoir is -74.0" (33.83 feet) which equates to 26.64% full. This is an increase of 4.5 inches since Friday. We received an additional 2.47 inches of rain over the weekend. At this time last year the reservoir was at approximately 72%. While the recent string of rain events has helped, we are still below where we should be. Please continue with your conservation measures and thank you for your superlative efforts!
